Failure to publish regulations for restaurants and cinemas:

You will be aware that President Cyril Ramaphosa announced on 17 June 2020 that South Africa was moving to 'advanced level 3' and further said that personal care businesses, restaurants and cinemas would be allowed to open under certain health protocols which would be published by government.

To date, only regulations for the personal care industry have been published, prejudicing restaurants and cinemas which have not been afforded the same regulations, eight days after the announcement was made by the President.

Should you fail to publish the regulations for restaurants and cinemas by the close of business on Friday, 26 June 2020, I will consider my legal options going forward in order to compel you to release these regulations to limit the prejudice and financial burden restaurants and cinemas continue to suffer due to the non-action of government.

I look forward to your response.

With kind regards,

Mr Dean Macpherson
Member of Parliament (DA)
Shadow Minister: Trade and Industry
