Multi-Party Charter to meet with civil society organisations

DATE: 24 November 2023

RELEASE: Immediate

On Tuesday, 28 November 2023, the eight parties to the Multi-Party Charter will host a gathering of civil society organisations. The purpose of the event is first and foremost for us to listen. We want to hear from civil society organisations what they want and expect from us.

We would like civil society organisations to share with us what they think we need to do to bring about the political change South Africa so desperately needs. And how a new Charter government can engage with civil society to ensure an effective and transparent coalition government that is consultative in its approach.

Members of the media are invited. Party leaders will be available for short interviews and photographs.
